As this differs in some places from that published by Twysden in his X. Scriptores, and contains a long addition, it is worth while to give here a page of this MS. continued from the word "commitment" in column 63 of Twysden, where the general identity of both MSS. ends.—"Committerent. Totum autem consilium suum tam Priori quam Archidiaconibus Ecclesiæ, summo celabat, et maturato rursus itinere ad regem Scotiæ revertitur, quasi ipsius adjumento Episcopatum Dunelmensem adepturus. Defunctus est autem, eo absente, episcopus, die Rogationum 2da, feria scil. tertia, & nocte sequente, quia cadaver ejus aliter teneri non potuit, exinteratus

- atque sale conditus est: Statimque procelanda morte ipsius, Castelli introitus etiam ipsis archidiaconibus et Priori, iuxta solitum, eum visitare volentibus, interclusus est, et mors ejus celata usque ad sextam feriam. Cum vero versaretur in ore omnium sermo mortis ejus, tradiderunt sepeliendum feria sexta, quasi recenter mortuum, & Sabbato sepultus. Dominica sequente rediit Willelmus in Castellum, & quasi auctoritate Regis Scotiæ munitus, quem ad suam factionem jam inclinaverat, cepit quasi sua omnia disponere, singulisque et sepe communiter omnibus verba faciens, quosdam alliciens promissis; alios attrahens blanditiis; omnes autem exquisitis circumveniens astutiis, omnia pro posse et supra posse agebat, ut præsumpta sibi permaneret potestas. Nec multus erat labor ut sibi barones adjungeret, quia prius pene expetitus est ab eis quam expeteret, tum timore ejus preventis tum calliditate circumvenientis. Infecit autem et unum Archidiaconum malicie suæ venenis, ut sibi assentiret. Hæc autem omnia in abscondito, in tenebris, et in umbra mortis, donec, adveniente Rege Scotiæ, palam sermo de his fieret a baronibus qui Regem comitabantur; Eustachio, scilicet, Rodberto de Brus, Bernardo de Baliol, Hugone de Moreville."

- 11059 Figuræ Veteris et Novi Testamenti, seu, Versus Latini ad depingendum in Ecclesiarum Muros. fol. V. s. xiii. This is a curious Preface, describing the mode in which the Walls of Churches were ornamented in the reign of Hen. 3. and previously.

The Author begins, "Dolens in Sanctuario Dei fieri picturarum ineptias, et deformia quedam, portenta magis quam ornamenta, optabam, si fieri posset, mentes oculosque fidelium honestius, et utilius occupare. Cum enim nostri temporis oculi non solum vana sed etiam profana, sepius voluptate capiantur, nec facile putaverim inanes ecclesie picturas, hoc tempore posse penitus abrogari, presertim in cathedralibus, et baptismalibus ecclesiis ubi publice fiunt stationes, excusabilem arbitror indulgentiam, si, vel ejusmodi picturis delectatur, que, tanquam libri laicorum, simplicibus divina suggerant, et litteratos ad amorem excitent scripturarum. Siquidem, ut pauca tangamus de plurimis. Quid-nam decentius est, quid fructuosius, speculati circa Dei altarium, aquilas bicipites unius ejusdemque capitis leones quatuor; centauros pharetratos; frementes acephalos; chimeram, ut fingunt logici; fabulosa vulpis, et galli diludia; simias tibicines; et onos liras boetii: vel certe contemplari gesta patriarcharum; legis ceremonias; presidia judicium; typicos regum actus; certamina prophetarum; Machabeorum triumphos; opera Dni. salvatoris; et iam choruscantis evangelii revelata misteria. Num adeo angusta est Veteris ac Novi testamenti series; quatinus honestum, et utile postponentes, in adinventionum turpitudine, numeros, ut aiunt, jocosos effundamus. Sed hec fantasmatum ludibria paulatim introduxit pictorum nefanda presumptio, quam utique tanto tempore non debuit ecclesiastica gravitas accepisse. Nam acceptare visa est, quod reprehensibili non desinit sustinentia tolerare. Ad moderandam itaque pictorum licentiam, immo ad informandam eorum operam in ecclesiis, ubi pingi permittitur, digerit presens calamus adaptationes quasdam rerum gestarum ex Veteri, et Novo testamento cum superscriptione binorum versuum, qui rem gestam Veteris testamenti breviter elucidant, et rem Novi convenienter adaptant quorundam postulatione capitulatim ad manum conscripti. Ideo verò per singula capitula plures positi sunt binarii versuum, ut, quod circa unum non sufficit exprimere brevitatis, suppleat circa idem alterata diversitas, placitam datura legentibus optionem. Qui, videlicet, bini versus circa rem gestam Veteris testamenti scribendi sunt, vel circa aliud quid mysticæ, seu tropicæ adaptationis. Nam circa rem gestam evangelii, eo quod usitatio, et notoria sit, sufficit scribere tantummodo nomina personarum. Ceterum hiis, qui talia curant, non erat meum pingenda queque disponere, sed disponent ipsi, prout trahit sua quemque voluptas, vel prout unusquisque in suo sensu abundat, dum modo gloriam Christi querant, non suam; nec solum ex ore infantium, et lactentium perficiat ipse laudem; sed etiam, si hii tacuerint, lapides clament, et Dei magnalia pictis quodam modoparies eloquatur. Michi propositum fuit in plerisque jam ecclesiis, ceptam honestatis ampliari materiam, et delictum nimie vanitatis prestantiori copia temperare." Written in the end of the 12th century, or beginning of the 13th.

Specimen of the Verses, which the Author proposes as substitutes for the Paintings:

Rubric: Promittitur Abraham, qd. Sara pariet ei filium.

Text: Partus ignaræ nova fit promissio Saræ

Christi natalis typus est promissio talis

Heres ridenti promissus utrique parenti

Christum promisit quo seculum flebile risit

Llyn, and had a great many of their Bookes. And then he had a Commission over all Wales granted him per Clarenceux Robt. Cox alias Clarenceux Roe de Armes, and Richard Glover, alias Somerset, Marsial to Norey King of Armes. He had that Commission granted him over all Wales, to keep, and preserve the Pedegrees of the Ancient Brittaines, and to give them their Right Claim and Title of Armes, and so he travelled over all the Marches of Wales. And the chief of the Nobility and Gentry had shewed him their Ancient Records, their writtings and Charters, and he wrote a copy of all those Writtings, Charters, and Records, and I have incerted the day and the year when they were first written per Lewis Dwnn, and the year of Queen Elizabeth's Reigne. And he mentions yt. there was then a copy of all his industrious Travels, with Mr. Broughton, one of the Councell of the Marches, and with one George Owen, Esqr., and with Mr. Richard Glover, alias Somerset, in London, and he had of their Bookes in return of his.

Besides, he saith yt. all the Nobility and Gentry hath sett their hands to their Pedegrees when he writt'em first, yt. it might plainly appear yt. there was nothing add nor diminish therein.

He hath taken likewise great care to preserve the Ancient British Tongue, and the most famous works of the Poets. And he is sure yt. no one before him never had such warrants for Pedegrees and Coat of Armes, nor such worthy attestations to his Bookes per several of the Gentry, and he testifies further whether they are truth or untruth, yt. they must be believ'd unavoidably, per reason of the numerous authorities and attestations he had of the same.

There is within this Book the Pedegrees of King James the 1st. and Queen Elizabeth, according as they were published in print, to Adam. Here is likewise the Pedegrees of some of the Nobility and Gentry of the Ancient Brittaines to Adam, the first man yt. Cox alias Clarenceux Roe de Armes, and Richard Glover, alias Somerset, Marsial to Norey King of Armes. He had that Commission granted him over all Wales, to keep, and preserve the Pedegrees of the Ancient Brittaines, and to give them their Right Claim and Title of Armes, and so he travelled over all the Marches of Wales. And the cheif of the Nobility and Gentry had shewed him their Ancient Records, their writings and Charters, and he write a copy of all those Writings, Charters, and Records, and I have incerted the day and the year when they were first writt per Lewis Dwnn, and the year of Queen Elizabeth's Reign. He hath taken likewise great care to preserve the Ancient British Tongue, and the most famous works of the Poets. And he is sure yt. no one before him never had such warrants for Pedegrees and Coat of Armes, nor such worthy attestations to his Books per several of the Gentry, and he testifies further whether they are truth or untruth, yt. they must be beliv'd unavoidably, per reason of the numerous authorities and attestations he had of the same.

There is within this Book the Pedegrees of King James the 1st. and Queen Elizabeth, according as they were published in print, to Adam. Here is likewise the Pedegrees of some of the Nobility and Gentry of the Ancient Brittaines to Adam, the first man yt. Ex Bibl. Caroli Wynne, Arm. M. P.

- 13719 Lewis Dwnn's Genealogical Collections for Wales sm. 4to. russ. & P. & ch. s. xvi. & s. xvii. This is a remarkable Volume, written, part on Vellum, part on Paper, in a vile scrawling hand, which does no credit to the "Chief Herald of all Wales." The 1st. 15 leaves are Vellum; then, as far as fol. 202, are paper; after which follow 16 leaves of Vellum, then 7 leaves paper, to which succeed 3 leaves of Vellum, which end the Book. Most of the Pedigrees are written in Circles, but some are in squares, others in the shape of trees, & others are given in narrative only. In some cases the 16 Ancestors are given in the shape of a Quadrant; in others, the Father is in a Circle in the Centre, & his Children, in Circles like Planets, revolving round him, or, like the Knights of the Round Table. Sometimes the Circles are in Perpendicular, sometimes in Horizontal Columns. The Book is full of these Nugæ Heraldicæ.

The first Page begins, in red letters "Hyna henwab y pendefigion addabthoni; the next line is in black letters, gida William gwukwerwr i ynys Brydain. Then follows a succession of names alternately in red, & black, which appear to be names of those who came in with Wm. the Conqueror. The 7th. page of this list is signed apparently by Lewys Dwnn.

The first Pedigree is that of St. Edward, the Confessor, whom he traces up to Noah. Then Wm. the Conqueror, & the Kings of England down to Elizh. after whom come the Welch Kings & Princes, beginning with "Rodri Maur, towsyog holl Gymru." Then follow the rest to Gwaithvod. After these the Pedigree of Adam Salsbr, Esgwier, downwards, Ednowain Brandw, Madog ap Ednowain, Jerworth ap Ririd, Gwrgaint ap Elidir, & Emlon ap Owain. Here follow 3 pages written upside down, containing Prognostications, (in English,) for the years 1594, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, & 1600, the first of which, as a Curiosity, I transcribe.

"The Relevation (sic.) of this year doth portend (sic.) new and straens hereses to a reis, and ther for it induseth subversions and changes in the true religion unto ecclesiastical persons, namli thos wich arr in the heichest estadt. On the last page of these first Vellum leaves are the names of the Conquerors of Brecknock, & Glamorgan, beginning with Sir Bernard Newmarch, & Sir Wm. de Londres, alias London, the first list, (of Brecon,) being taken from the "Llyfr Ed. Gams esgwie, ai dowad;" & the 2nd, from the "Llyfr Sir Edw. Mansel, ai dowad."

The 1st. page of the paper portions dated 1597, & begins "O duw na! gamwedd." "y dyma Gopi o hen lyfr Morus Dskyne ap Pys Treffor, or Betws." "Ac or gygn y lleidva huanu pann." &c. At fol. 31. the first Pedigrees in Circles begin, dated 1573. being Marchudd ap Kynan's issue, & Wm. the Conqueror's in parallel lines until they meet in Henry 7th. & Elizh. d. of Edw. 4. & then continue thro' the Scotch line to James 1. & Henry his son, Prince of Wales. At fol. 39. is the Royal Coat of France, & England quartering Scotland, & Ireland, very neatly tricked, & therefore I suspect not done by Lewis Dwnn. At fol. 45 b. are the 16 Ancestors of Edw. Langford in the shape of a Quadrant, & on fol. 46. the Ancestors of Thos. Langford, branching like a tree, but on the right side only, in which each wife's Ancestors are carried up. At fol. 49. is the 1st. Ped. in which the Father in the centre circle has all his Children round him, each in a circle. At fol. 52. begin the P. J. of Johns, Salsby, Hamer, Thomas, Stradling, Wogan, Vychan, Aubrey, Williams, Gaius, Herbert, Mansel, Bulkeley, Croft, Mostyn, Breerton, Wogan, Lewys, Cornwall, Perott, all dated 1604, or 5. At fol. 62. Ped. of Powys, 1596, &c. At fol. 70. are Herefordshire Pedigrees in narrative, part in red ink, part in black, viz rather better writing. At fol. 76. begin Pedigrees of

At fol. 84 b, Jones of Aber Marlais. f. 85 b, Titles of Officers of the Herald's Coll. signed "p. me Lewys Dwnn, 1585." f. 86, the Peds. in Circles commence again. f. 90, "Plant brennin Boem," in a circle, in the centre of which is Llowarch hen, & round him are 27 persons—f. 100, Ped. of Herbert—fol. 102, Pedigree of Mansel, (written Mansfelt,) beginning with Robert Mansfelt who married Burga, verch Langton. f. 103, Gamage of Coity; & the Earl of Worcester. f. 110, Brochwel Ysgithrog. f. 123, Conwy of Potryddan. f. 125, Thos. tobacco water to make it look old.
- 13872 Meletius's History of Byzantine Painting.
s. fol. V. s. . . . 53 leaves. This may possibly be a Copy by Simonides, dipped in tobacco water, & strangely used to make it look old.
The work itself, I believe, has been published in French, by M. Didron of Paris.
- 13873 A MS. in Arrowhead Character on Vellum.
An evident forgery, supposed to be done by S.
3 lines in Greek Capitals, at the end, are half washed out, in order to make them look ancient.
s. 4to. V. s. xix. 6 leaves.
- 13874 Euleri Ethnica. 3 leaves. sm. 4to. Vel. This also I suspect to be a forgery.
- 13875 Neocomi Historia Byzantina. 4 leaves. s. 4to. Vel.
Another forgery, probably, similar to the last.
The above 2 MSS. on Vellum are written in the same kind of brown ink.
- 13876 A leaf torn out of a New Testament, containing the Verses relative to those who were bidden to the marriage feast but would not come.
sm. 4to. Vell. s. xiv.
- 13877 Homeri Ilias. The first 3 books, written on a Roll of Vellum, 21 $\frac{1}{2}$ inches long, 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ broad. This MS. is in a most unusual Character, which induces many persons to deem it, (as well as the Hesiod which follows,) a forgery. Some of the Characters resemble those upon the Lycian Monuments. It is written in Greek Capitals, so small, as not to be read without a magnifying glass. It is also in Boustrophedon, a form I believe never before seen on Vellum MSS., although frequent in Inscriptions on Marble, & Vases. At the head of the Poem are the names of Persons, supposed to be Archontes, written in 14 Columns,
one letter under another, in the Persepolitan, or Chinese manner. Under these are 4 horizontal lines, so that the whole looks like a Temple with 14 Columns, standing upon 4 steps. The first lines of the Poem are written, (like the Columns above mentioned,) one letter under another, in 4 Columns, as far as Verse . . . after which the lines run from left to right, & right to left, alternately, in Boustrophedon. There is so much the appearance of the MS. having been long used by some person who loved to read the Poet, that I can not bring myself to believe it to be a forgery of S. If it is, it is the most wonderfull & successfull attempt ever accomplished. The worst part of the evidence against it is, that the Man is so mysterious about his acquisition of these MSS. A straight-forward, honest person would state at once, with all candour, where he obtained it, & how. With all this mystery, we are certainly tempted to say "Quid non audebit Græcia mendax." He shewed me a small leaden jar, like an ink-pot, in which he said the Hesiod was found. It had been covered with Pitch, or Bitumen. It is possible, that such a jar, so covered, might preserve its contents for 2000 years, uninjured by atmospheric action. I have a Latin Manuscript which is 1200 years old,

which has been exposed to all the wear, & tear
of human fingers, as well as atmospheric action, but it is as fresh and fair now, almost, as when it was written, except where injured by actual water having touched it. Is it not possible then, that this Homer may be a Relic of the Alexandrian Library, which was burnt only about 1200 years ago. Hear what Mr. Bowen says in his remarks on Mount Athos:
"A great migration of Monks, & Anchorites,
took place hither (Mount Athos) when Egypt, their first stronghold, was conquered by the Saracens. A large proportion of the holy exiles settled down on the peninsula of Acte, forming a Society, which is utterly without parallel in all history."

? Is it not possible that the Librarian might have put this roll, 2 inches broad, & half an inch thick, into his pocket, prior to the assault of the Caliph on Alexandria, & carried it off?
Is it not possible that this Roll may have been written in Lycia, & thence transferred to the Alexandrian Library?
Or may not it have been written in Etruria.
(where we know Boustrophedon was used) & obtained by Ptolemy from that Country? At all events, from whatever Country it may have come, I feel almost convinced that neither this nor the Hesiod, have been forged by S. and other Persons, I think, may be convinced, by comparing them with those MSS., which I suspect really to be his forgeries, as in the case of the Phocylides below, (No. 13872.) & the Palæphatus, & Æschylus, which are still, I believe, in his possession. Cicero speaks of having seen the Iliad written so small, that it could be put into a Nutshell; I presume he meant a Walnut Shell. Although this Homer is not so small, yet I have the whole of Anacreon, (No.
13869,) which is capable of being so enclosed.

13878 Hesioidi Opera; i. e. Opera, & Dies, Theogonia, Scutum Herculis. On ten Rolls of Vellum, in a rather larger Character than the Homer. The same characteristics of long usage, & evident antiquity, attend this MS. as in the Homer, & it is written in the same formed letters, & in Boustrophedon. The length of each Roll is 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ inches, breadth 2 inches. There is a repetition of part of the Scutum Herculis, of which the old title seems to have been erased, & the following inserted, with evident tampering, & interpolation, "Hesiodou Sigdoenta epece ems phoros." Then follow eleven lines in characters, which are not Greek, but resemble Arabic.
Then follows the above mentioned repetition of part of the Scutum; after which is another Poem, in the supposed Arabic Character, &
then comes this Title, in Greek "Hesiodou Orai," on the last membranè but one, which continues to the end of the 10th; but the whole Poem of the "Orai" is in the supposed Arabic Character.

- 13879 Anacreontis Carmina: on 4 Skins of extremely fine, & thin Vellum, about 1 inch broad, & 7 inches long. This is written smaller than the Homer, & the Vellum is almost transparent. The letters are so small as scarcely to be read with the magnifying glass, but as I have read some lines of it, I know it to be Anacreon. This MS. would undoubtedly go with ease into a Walnut shell, & if it were doubled up, & compressed into the smallest space it is capable of, it would unquestionably go into a Hazelnut shell.
- 13880 Pythagoræ Aurea Carmina. This is written on Vellum almost as fine as the Anacreon, on one skin about 4 inches long, & 1 1/2 inch broad. On the dorso is a Rubric, almost erased. Neither this, nor the Anacreon, do I believe to be forgeries.
- 13881 Tyrtaei Ode. A Roll on 2 skins of Vellum; 19 inch. long, & 2 1/2 broad. This I am inclined to think a forgery of S. who has here imitated the Characters of Homer; & Hesiod, but in a much larger hand, & in evidently more modern writing, & the Ink is clearly not the same. This is in Boustrophedon, & some of the Odes are written in the form of Temples, Crosses, Axes, Eggs, &c.
- 13882 Phocylidis Carmina, &c.
† Aristotelis Poëan.
† Rianos Cretensis peri Aphrodisineas.
a Roll on 7 skins of Vellum, 13 inches long, & 4 1/2 broad. In Greek Capitals, in the fine large hand of Simonides, & in his brown ink, which still smells strongly of the perfume in its composition.
There is a remarkable fact in this MS. that it gives the Country of Phocylides, which was not known, apparently, to Fabricius. The Title runs thus, "Phokylidou Eurasthens tou Milesiou Poietou Nouthetikon." It contains also some Varie Lëctiones from the 1st. Aldine Edition; & in one instance a Verse is transposed which seems to me to improve the sense. At the end is written "Teos ieras kai Vasilikos Moneas tzen Thessalonikeion"
- 13883 A Charter of to a Roll on Vellum, sec. 24 1/2 inches long, & 7 1/2 inches broad. The Painting in the beginning is obliterated, apparently on purpose.
This bears a suspicious look of forgery, but may possibly be genuine.
- 13884 Another similar Charter of of the same suspicious Character, with a Painting, smeared, & obliterated like the other; but which has been gilded, & the writing, in both, has some appearance of having written been with gold Ink. On Vellum 23 1/2 inch. by 7 1/2 backed with cloth.
- 13885 A third Charter more suspicious than the others, & more obliterated; There has been a Painting, but it is rubbed out. On Vellum 28 inch. long by 11 1/2, backed with cloth.

(As this is a History by a Man who dared to speak the truth in those tyrannical times, and as the Copies of it are very rare, I will give the Index in extenso in this Catalogue. This Volume contains only the first 3 Books of the 6 which Las Casas wrote, or intended to write. He lived to a great age, & was witness to the cruel acts of the Spaniards, & Roman Catholic Priests against the Mexicans for 60 years, the History of which he purposed to write in 6 decades of years. This Volume therefore is the History of the first 30 years. It is written in 3 different hands, each Book having been given to a different scribe. It varies in some unimportant words from the Copy (which is also in my Library) made for my friend, the late lamented Lord Kingsborough, who, I feel it an honour to say, may be deemed to have undertaken his grand Work of Mexican Antiquities in this House of Middle Hill. (For, when he was here, he consulted me about the work, in which I strongly encouraged him, & I gave him his first letter of introduction to Dr. Bandinel of the Bodleian Library, in order to see the Mexican Manuscripts there.) But although the words are unimportant, they suffice to show that there are copies with variations. Where his Lordship obtained his Copy, I am not aware, nor am I likely to learn. For his correspondence seems to have perished in the course of that atrocious Action, which consigned him to a prison, & broke his heart,—the heart of one, who, if ever man merited an honorary Column, deserved to have the loftiest erected to his praise, instead of being subject to the persecutions which he suffered. But, happily, Men who perform great actions, cannot have their glory destroyed by the petty rancour, & malignity, of those living around them, & the name of Edward, Lord Kingsborough will be lauded by the world, when the names of his persecutors are utterly forgotten.)

- 14262 A Packet of Tracings from Mexican MSS. (now bound into a large folio Vol beginning with folio 482, ending folio 583. dated 1578.
 This curious MS. appears to contain a list of Mexicans, whose heads are drawn in the Mexican manner, with their symbolical names proceeding from their mouths, and the Spanish interpretation of the names, attached to them.
 The work seems to be a Register of Mexicans living in the parishes of St. Juan de Vexozinco; St. Diego Chaltepeltapan; Sta.
 Maria Assumptio Almoyavacan; Tecacallanco; Nepopovalco; S. Fran. Tlanquetenco; St. Estevan
 Tepetzicun, St. Antonio Tlatenco, & St. Luys
 Coyotzinco. At the commencement of each Parish is a Drawing of the Church, except the first, St. Juan Vexozinco, in the Title Page, which has only a Tree on a Hill: on the left side of the Tree is an Eagle, on the right an Ocelot, Above the Tree, & across part of it, is a statement, in Spanish writing of the time, describing the subject of the Chapter. The Original was imperfect in some parts, & probably all prior to folio 482 were lost. The following are specimens of the names.

A Head, with a deer's head issuing from the mouth, is Juan Mazatl, therefore Mazatl signifies a Deer.

A Head, with a Column on 3 Steps without a capital, is Juan Tamillo, therefore Tamillo signifies a Column on 3 Steps.

A Head, with a Diamond shaped object on the tip of the middle finger of an Open Hand held upright, is Francis Matlacmani.

A Head, with an Eagle's foot cut off, is Thomas Quauhetepe, therefore Quauhetepe is an Eagle's foot cut off.

A Head, with a Lizard on the top of it (not coming from the mouth) is Pedro Quatopi.

A Head, with a bird's skeleton head, & beak is Loys Vitznui.

A Head, with a Rattle snake from the mouth, is Torbio Couatl: therefore Couatl is a Rattle-snake. (From this I infer that the real name of this Snake, is not Rattle, but Couatl Snake, and that those who first heard the natives pronounce the name, heard it indistinctly, and thought it had been Rattle.)

A Head, with a Bee, is Diego Xicon.

Some of the Names are formed from common Images, as, a Bird's head above an open Jaw, shewing the teeth, is Quauhtlatova, & a Head with the same Bird's head (apparently a Parrot's) with a tongue, or word coming out of its mouth, is Quauhtlistas, therefore Quauhtl is probably a Parrot. A Head, with the head of an Ocelot, is Pedro Ocelotl, therefore Ocelotl is the Ocelot. A Head, with a Rattle Snake twisted in only one knot is Mixcouatl: therefore Mix probably signifies a Knot, or twist. At fol. 429 is a List of Women, whose names are chiefly symbolised by plants, & flowers.

In some places there are sentences in the Mexican language written in Spanish letters.

 This MS. was commenced in the Pontificate of Adrian 4, 1154-9. & finished in the reign of the Emperor Frederic 1st, if we may judge from the Lists of Popes, & Emperors on the 2nd. leaf. The first 5 leaves contain preliminary matter, viz. 1. Nomina Provinciarum Romani Imperii.
 2. Do. Provinciarum, & Civitatum Gallie.
 3. Catalogus Imperatorum Romanorum a Julio Cæsare ad Fredericum 1.
 4. Do. Paparum ad Adrian 4.
 5. History of the Origin of General Councils. They began in the reign of Constantine. A List of the first 21 Councils.
 6. A Letter of Aurelius, Bishop of Carthage to Pope Damasus with the Pope's Answer.
 7. Jorus Mercator's (the Compiler, or Writer of this MS.) Preface to the Reader, in which he says "Compellor a multis tam Episcopis quam reliquis servis Dei Canonum Sententias colligere, et in uno Volumine redigere, et de multis unum facere. Sed hoc oppide conturbat, quod diversæ interpretationes varias sententias faciunt, & licet unus sit sensus, diversæ longiores, ac breviores. Ea vero Concilia quæ Græco sunt edita stilo, amplius quam tripliciter aut quadrupliciter interpretata atque conscripta reperimus, &c. &c.
 8. Index Decretorum, & Conciliorum in hoc Libro
 9. (Here begins the Work itself, of which the first letter, being a large illumination probably, is cut out.) The Index is as follows.
 "Ordo de celebrando Concilio.
 Canones Apostolorum (which, the Compiler says, are doubtful.) Decreta Clementis Papæ, & Martyris. These Decreta of Clement are Letters written James, the brother of Christ, in the first of which Letters Clement says, that he was present with Peter in his latter days, & that Peter then appointed Clement to be the next Bishop after him. This does not tally with the story of the Popes, who say, that Linus was the next to Peter.

Vol. 1. contains from Genesis to the 4th. Book of Kings. Vol. 2. from Job, to Malachi. It has the Triple Psalter. Vol. 3. is missing.

Arms on the first page, Per fess S. & A. a c. cross counter-changed. It is a query whether it is the Autograph of Trapezuntius, for at the Colophon of S. Cyrillus is this "Absolvit hanc Scripturam Ludovicus Marecalcus, Mononiensis, die 28 Martii M.D. XIII. Legationis meae Anno secundo, agens Budae legatus apud Sm. Wladislaum Regem." Therefore I think it is a Copy of Trapezuntius's Autograph in the Royal Library at Buda, made by Marecalchi, Ambassador to the King of Hungary, (? Mathias Corvinus.) The last work in the Vol. has no Title, but begins "Quoniam dictum est mihi," & ends "aliud non sit quam ratio." ¶ Amphilocheus de Spiritu Sancto, adversus Eunuismum, f. ch. s. xvi. No. 1662 20826 En cest livre sont les "Croniques de la descolacion St. Jean Baptiste, des Empereurs, des Papes, des Rois Paiens, et des Rois Crestiens jusqua Roy Philippe, nls le Roy Loys de France, 1274." Ex Bibl. M. de Thou, 1 Cab. Tab. 5. 4.

The following Memorandum is on the Cover
 "Cet Cronique contient l'histoire depuis l'empereur Tibere jusqu'au regne de Philippe le Hardy outre l'histoire des Empereurs Romains, L'auteur s'estend beaucoup sur celle des Bretons, ou il mesle beaucoup de Fables. Au cinquieme siecle il commence celle des Roys de France qui fait ensuite la principal partie du livre. Il s'estend beaucoup sur les Croisades, dont il fait l'histoire fort en detail. Il y entremesle plusieurs genealogies des Maisons de Dieux, d'Anjou, de Naples, de Rumigni, de Montagne, d'Anglon, d'Antoing, de Brabant, et autres, qu'il commence au tems de la premiere Croisade, et les continue jusques a son tems, en marquant exactement les alliances. La connoissance que l'auteur semble avoir de l'origine, et de la fondation de plusieurs Eglises, et Abbayes de Hainaut, et de la France, et de plusieurs familles de ces deux provinces, dont il rapport les genealogies, font soupconner qu'il y demeurait. Il s'evend particulièrement sur les Croisades." *Another hand (? De Thou.) has added this Note to this last entry "Selon P. Ursin Durand, Rel. Bened. (Religieux Benedictin.)
